Last night as young Corss sat in the parlors of the hotel the strains of Tschaikowsky's "Romance" reached of Palanka the northern slopes of the his ears. He first heard them the day verted to pleasant memories. He investigated and found that the aria was being played by his friend, Robert Armbruster.

The music struck a tender chord in young Corss's heart. An inspiration seized him. He sprang to a telephone and in a moment had called for the young woman's home at the Golden Gate. Then he took Armbruster into his confidence.

Two and a half hours after he had filed his call he was notified that Miss Jones was on the wire. Greetings were exchanged between the two young folk, and then Corss asked Miss Jones to listen.

OLD PIRACY LAW INVOKED IN CASE OF ACCUSED MEN

The arrest of the man calling himself Robert Fay, a lieutenant in the German army, and three others, charged with conspiracy to thou up ships carrying ammunition to the allies, and suspected of plotting to destroy munition plants and chemical factories by the use of explosives, was merely an incident in a nation-wide investigation into the activities of German spies and sympathizers which the United States Secret Service is pushing in all directions. It so happened that the Police Department of this city uncovered the plotting of Fay and his associates, Scholz and

These three were turned over to the United States Government by Justice of the Peace Rander in Weehawken to-day. They are held on warrants issued by United States Commissioner Houghton. From papers found in their possession the Secret Service operatives have obtained clues which should lead to other and important arrests.

Board of Estimate Must Concur, but Fate of Classes In Doubt From Now to Jan. 1.

Although the Board of Aldermen by unanimous vote of its sixty-six memers present to-day declared in favor of giving the Board of Education $287,000 to help run the night schools until the end of the term, there is a ikelihood that the Board of Estimate will act reversely

Max Breitung, said to be a nephew of E. N. Breitung, the banker and mine owner, is being sought. A general alarm was sent out to-day calling for Brettung's arrest. He is charged jointly with Fay, Scholz, Daeche and Herbert Kienzle of No. 309 West Eighty-sixth Street, who was arrested late yesterday afternoon, with conspiring to destroy ships in New York harbor and is directly charged with furnishing one Paul Selb with $113 for the purchase of explosives for the destruction of a certain vessel.

The name of the vessel is not revealed in an affidavit made by Chief Flynn. It appears that the Government is in possession of information that the accused German sympathizers plotted to blow up a ship in this harbor within a few days after Oct. 21, the date on which Breitung is alleged to have furnished Seib with $112 for the purchase of explosives.

Seib will be a witness for the Government and is in the custody of New York detectives. It is said that he has made an affidavit charging Pay and others with conspiring to destroy by means of explosives one of the argest chemical factories in the United States.
